

SAUNTERINGS

From Where The West Begins.

By JOHN T. MEYERS.
For The Sea Coast Echo.

OUT of the mad, barbaric scenes that took place in San Jose, California recently, when a rabid, howling, degenerate mob of human vultures stormed, a jail, defied the law, and publicly lynched two men accused of the kidnap murder of Brooke L. Hart, Sheriff William J. Emig and his officers stand out as heroes.

By his willful neglect in withholding state troops to aid these courageous officers, vainly struggling to uphold the tenets of law and order against odds, Governor Rolph, seemingly, cast aside his sworn responsibility as governor of the state and people he represents.

There is no question that a death penalty was deserved by the men who brutally kidnapped and murdered Hart. This penalty should be inflicted only through proper legal measure according to the laws of civilized mankind—not at the bloody hands of a mob—sanctioned and unchecked by a governor lacking the praiseworthy nerve and legal judgment shown by Sheriff William J. Emig.

Mob violence is never right. Any man or woman who joins a crazed lynch mob is a cowardly, yellow cur at heart. The brave and intelligent citizen will demand that the law take its course.

SAN Antonioans were somewhat bewildered today whether a bottled-in-bomb toast to the resurrection of John Barleycorn could be purchased and drunk openly on Tuesday. Rumors are afloat that the town will be wide open. Local prohibition men and prospective dealers are "marking time," awaiting definite orders from Washington.

Although Texas voted overwhelmingly in favor of repeal, the State Deans law is still in effect. Many of the boys are giving the wink, and singing, "Who's afraid of the big, bad Dean law?"

MERELY by coincidence, on the eve of the nation's farewell to the 18th amendment, the last word in the dictionary (Webster's) (colleague) was discovered to be—synonymy.

Zymurgy is that branch of applied chemistry which has to do with fermentation processes, as in wine making, brewing, etc. During the past 14 years a lot of home brew makers graduated in "that branch of applied chemistry" without the slightest suspicion the word existed.

ADDED signs of Xmas on the horizon. A large chain department store advertises a free Christmas tree with purchase receipts totalling $5.00 on purchases made between now and Christmas. Downtown streets already artistically canopied in holiday decorations. Salvation Army workers dangling bells before their furnaces, grim reminders of the less fortunate, whose needs must not go unheeded on Christmas Day—at least.

UNLESS the weather man shifts gears and gets some long delayed winter-season temperature for San Antonio, jolly Santa will have to discard his fur-trimmed regalia and don a bathing suit during his yearly southwest Texas jaunt. Sunday's temperature soared above the 80 mark.

THE cold, drab atmosphere surrounding a city jail hardly speaks romance. But love laughs at all obstacles—even jailers, iron bars, and thick stone jail house walls.

Edna was idling away time in a cell on a charge of drunkenness. In another cell, James Patrick, arrested for a like offense, was also a guest of the city. Somehow, without having seen one another, love blossomed for the two as they managed to converse despite the thick stone barrier. He claimed he fell madly in love with her voice. She dreamed of him by day and night as ideal lover. Fate brought them together they reasoned. Finally Patrick proposed. Edna, blushing unseen in her cell, accepted. His sentence served, the prospective bridegroom secured Edna's release. A jail wedding with newspaper reporters and jail attendants as witnesses followed.

Did they live happy ever after, you ask? Well, not exactly. First the bride-of-day returned to the city jail—drunk again. A day later the brand-new groom staggered in, held by a couple of big policemen. As Dan Cupid beat a hasty retreat from the jail house press room to escape reporters' gibes, he was heard to mutter, "Ise regusted."

Cartoonists who make up a strip on the merit of some worn-out joke always leave a green persimmon impression.

Automobile license plate sale for 1934 begins on December 1st. Current auto plates cannot be replaced by car owners until January 1st.

THE Monroe Doctrine was proclaimed December 2nd, 1823. How many patriotic Americans understand just what the Monroe Doctrine means to the United States? If your memory has become foggy, ask some bright-eyed school child. They can explain its importance.

A LLEN, the darky elevator boy reports a local sport enjoyed by some of his colored brethren. Gryhounds and other types of hound dogs are set upon jack rabbits in an open field. Speed and action appeal to the crowd. Allen claims his greyhounds capture the jack rabbits. We doubted the story. Now we have an engagement to cover a jack rabbit greyhound chase. The bet still lays on the jack's nose.

WORK AND PLAY AT S. J. A.

SODALITY NEWS.

THE meeting of last week was devoted to making plans for December, the month so dear to all. As Mary Immaculate's Feast is the dearest title under which Sodality honor their Mother, her feast had to be celebrated with all due splendor. A triduum of Masses and Holy Communions was decided to be the best way to please Mary. This decision has been faithfully put into action by all members.

On Friday morning, at seven o'clock, there will be a Missa Recitata at which there will be a General Communion of all the Sodality. After Mass the aspirants, who have been on probation for several months will be received as Children of Mary.

During December, each girl volunteered to spend daily a few minutes before the Blessed Sacrament.

Several well filled baskets were distributed to poor and the girls once more experienced the blessed joy of giving.

GOLD JAYS ARE HEADING FOR VICTORIOUS YEAR UNDER NEW CAPTAIN.

Alice Camors, noted all-around athlete of Gulf Coast, was elected to lead the Gold Jays' Team through the basketball season of '33-'34. Miss Camors was elected unanimously, her ability as a leader having been proven on former occasions.

Congratulations, Alice! We know that in your new position as captain of the basketball team you will have the heartiest cooperation its members. We are out to bring back the Gulf Coast Trophy, and under your leadership we feel that we shall be victorious.

CHEERLEADERS ELECTED.

The old Jays will be represented by three lively girls during their games this season. Delta Lizana, Ella Louise Quinn, and Pearl Baby having been elected. The team and rooters are looking forward to plenty of pep and vim.

We are confident that these three girls will do their utmost to help spur the team to victory. Come on, girls! We're betting on you. Don't disappoint us.

GOLD JAYS FIRST APPEARANCE.

At last that long anticipated match between the old Jays and their sister team from New Roads, Louisiana is at hand. The game is scheduled for Saturday, December 9th, at 7:30 P. M. As this will be the Gold Jays' first game of the season, we expect a large crowd to cheer them to victory.

GOLD JAYS VS. NEW ROADS.

Date: Saturday, Dec. 9th. Time: Seven Thirty P. M. Place: S. J. A. Gym. Admission—15c and 10c.

Announcement comes from Jackson that George B. Power, director civil works administration funds, has approved the project of improving and repairing the seawall forming the re-entment of the seashore line of Bay-Waveland district. Employment will be given 200 persons on this project, said Administrator W. D. Hays in charge for Hancock county. $28,000 is the amount set as Hancock county's quota of CWA funds but it is surmised as this is comparatively a small amount, in a sense, it is possible this sum might be augmented with an additional appropriation at a later date.

E. Van Whitfield, of Bay St. Louis, received the appointment this week that gives him the office and title of National Employment Agent for this county, under the Re-Employment Administrator, George R. Noble, State Director, with offices at Jackson. Mr. Whitfield has already qualified and established himself at the courthouse. He will be assisted by the CWA staff.

The CWA set up includes W. D. Hays, administrator; L. N. C. Spotorino, disbursing officer; W. E. Allison, assistant to Mr. Hays; Louis J. Norman in clerical capacity; Robert Van Court stenographer.

These officials and others have their headquarters in the building near the postoffice, Main street, formerly the W. L. Bourgeois residence, later the King's Daughters Hospital and more latterly the Red Cross headquarters.

The county executive CWA Board is composed of Robert L. Genin, George R. Rea, Dr. D. H. Ward, Emilio Cue and Albert S. McQueen. City Advisory Board—Hon. G. Y. Blaise, Messrs. S. J. Ingram, Charles G. Moreau, Miss Clara Kergosien, Henry W. Osonnach.

Mr. Hays stated to The Echo men were being put to work as quickly as possible and practical and the first pay day would follow in proportionate order. The seawall project is the only one approved and is big enough to put many to work, that delay will be tolerated no longer as in my opinion people are suffering.

The Board of Supervisors has been cooperating in the working of these men and will continue and if there is anything that the Board of Supervisors can do I honestly believe they will be 100 per cent toward doing it and I absolutely pledge myself to support any movement that will mean the placing of these people to work immediately. I beg to remain, Yours very truly, EMILIO CUE.

CLERMONT HARBOR

THE Parent-Teachers' Association of Clermont Harbor School held their regular monthly meeting Monday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, at the school. A very interesting program of songs and readings was given by the pupils. Various subjects were discussed and it was decided to have a Christmas tree and distribution of toys, to be held Friday, Dec. 22nd, at the school. After the business meeting a short social hour was enjoyed with Mrs. Eugene Mogabgab as the hostess. Refreshments were served.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Cock and family came out from New Orleans last week to spend Thanksgiving and enjoy the balmy days at their home on Clermont and Bodega street.

Dr. and Mrs. A. Mogabgab and two young sons, of New Orleans, spent the past week-end at their home here.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Kern spent several days in New Orleans. They were accompanied by Miss Marie Bachino.

Misses Jennie and Carrie Zellar, of New Orleans, are spending some time at the home of their sister, Mrs. R. Dannenberg.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Mogabgab and son Louis, were in New Orleans several days recently, combining business with pleasure.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Ladner have returned from New Orleans where Mr. Ladner received medical attention. Best wishes for a speedy recovery.

The two turkeys disposed of by the P. T. A. for the Christmas tree fund were awarded to Mrs. Annie Roane, Clermont Harbor and Mr. Sidney W. Pragues of Bay St. Louis.

Mr. and Mrs. L. Maloney, of New Orleans, were recent visitors at the Jos. Chalona home on the beach.

Mr. and Mrs. John S. Pearce and family of New Orleans, were calling on friends here last Sunday.

HON. EMILIO CUE RESIGNS FROM CWA HANCOCK CO. BOARD

Gives Reason In Letter Addressed to State Director George B. Power

The following letter is self-explanatory. Emilio Cue, president Board of Supervisors, a member of Hancock County Unit CWA resigns and gives his reasons in letter herewith made public:

Bay St. Louis, Miss., December 7, 1933.

Mr. George B. Power, Director State Civil Works Admin., Jackson, Miss.

My dear Mr. Power: I today sent you a telegram to the effect that I tendered my resignation as a member of the CWA committee. In my telegram I advised you that letter followed and the purpose of this letter is to explain my resignation.

We have in this county on the relief force something like 1100 people. We have no industry in the county. I would say that the registration in Hancock will show at least 3500 people applying for positions and who are badly in need of help. In my humble opinion, at least, 2000 of these people are in dire distress and delay of a few hours or a day means considerable to the man without employment, money, or food. When I accepted the appointment I pledged myself to work no politics in the distribution of the money allotted to this county for the reason that I understand it is a sacred fund, meant for the relief of people suffering from the lack of employment. I have done all in my power to help these people who are in dire need and distress to work but it seems that a friction has arisen and being thoroughly opposed to the delay that has already taken place I do not feel that in justice to my county who are suffering from this delay that I should remain a part of this board any longer.

I am resigning solely hoping that the other gentlemen in office will be able to proceed with this work and that someone might be chosen in my place who might be able to get the ball to rolling. I assure you that I stand 100 per cent behind any movement that will help the working of the people who are in need and I sincerely hope that with the receipt of this letter that, if the men in need have not already been put to work, that delay will be tolerated no longer as in my opinion people are suffering.

The Board of Supervisors has been cooperating in the working of these men and will continue and if there is anything that the Board of Supervisors can do I honestly believe they will be 100 per cent toward doing it and I absolutely pledge myself to support any movement that will mean the placing of these people to work immediately. I beg to remain, Yours very truly, EMILIO CUE.

Dance at Civilian Camp Announced For Friday, December 15.

Another of the series of enjoyable dances given at the Civilian Camp, (near Kilm), is announced for Friday, December 15, and will mark the pre-Christmas holidays. Mrs. Jas. H. Sylvester, chairlady arrangements, and associates are quite interested in the forthcoming event for the boys in camp who are anticipating this particular dance in more than ordinary measure.

722 Teachers Employed on Welfare Relief

A total of 722 part-time teachers have been put to work through the state board of public welfare in 54 counties, Director Geo. B. Power of the board reveals.

These teachers, supplied by the board for districts unable to pay regular instructions were paid as "work relief" projects until this week, when they were assigned as CWA employees.

SURVIVED BY WIFE.

Mr. Herbert George Choina, whose death was recorded in the columns of last week's Sea Coast Echo, in addition to being survived by his parents and brothers and sisters, is also survived by his devoted wife, who, before her marriage, was Miss Louise Paige, of New Orleans. She has the sympathy of a wide circle of friends both in this section and New Orleans, her former home.

MISS MILLER MOVES BEAUTY SHOPPE.

Miss Evelyn Miller, beauty shoppe owner and operator, announces in the advertising columns of The Echo that she has moved the location of her place of business to No. 213 Main street, more central and convenient of access to the patrons of her establishment.

A subscription to The Sea Coast Echo would make an ideal Xmas present for some relatives or friends who have moved from Bay St. Louis. This gift will bring happiness, entertainment and remembrance throughout the entire year to come.

BAZAAR RESULTS FOR S. S. C.

$175.00 Amount Netted—Various Forms of Attractions—Public Thanked

The Bazaar held last Sunday netted the sum of $175.00 to the treasury of the St. Stanislaus Parents' Club. The Club, through its President, Mrs. Edmund Fahey wishes to thank one and all who contributed so generously to the success of the entertainment.

From the opening of the doors at five o'clock until closing time at eleven, a large crowd was on hand taking in everything that was offered.

The College band gave a concert of eight members starting at seven o'clock. The boys were soundly applauded for their efforts. The Junior Glee Club sang several popular songs. They were accompanied by the Gulfcoast Syncopators. The little fellows, as usual, made a hit. The one-act skit entitled "A Pair of Lunatics" presented by Mr. Melvin Payment and Miss Delta Lizana received a big hand.

The closing feature of the entertainment was a dance from 8:30 to 11 o'clock. The Gulfcoast Syncopators provided the music for the occasion. These youngsters played very well and are deserving of much praise.

The novelties of course came in for their share of entertainment. The shooting gallery seemed to be most popular. Three shots were permitted at a moving balloon. This was the center of attraction for the many who have boasted of their fine marksmanship.

Those in charge of the various tables were: Candy: Mesdames Edmund F. Fahey and Edward C. Carrere. Cake table: Mesdames Harry C. Glover, F. J. Bopp, George Hamner and J. J. Grevenberg.

Sandwich table: Mesdames Kenneth W. Peppardene, S. A. Power, Edward E. Arceneaux and Miss W. Heath.

Refreshments: Messrs. J. J. Grevenberg and Edward Heath.

Dance: Messrs. Ed. J. Arceneaux, Kenneth W. Peppardene and Edward C. Carrere.

Fortune Booth: Mrs. Ed. Heath. Ring Table: Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Elliott.

Novelties: Brother Vincent and Brother Frederick.

SECOND TERM TESTS COMPLETED AT SAINT STANISLAUS COLLEGE

Collegians Looking Forward To Christmas—Bro. William Compliments.

With the second term of the first semester out of the way, students at St. Stanislaus are looking forward to Christmas, and the holidays which this period brings. There will be no further tests until the Mid-term. Those who have weakened along the path will have opportunities of recovering lots ground in the mean time.

The results of the second term were announced by Brother William last Monday afternoon. Reports were sent home during the week. With few exceptions the marks were of high calibre which testified to the intense study of the boys. Brother William complimented the boys on the fine work being done. He assured them that their parents would feel proud of their reports.

The following are the leaders in their respective classes:

12th. Scientific—Andrew Cunningham, William O'Brien, Chas. Henry. Commercial—George Heitzman, F. Monti, John Dassel.

11th.—Piercy Stakelum, William Price, Herman Bopp.

10th.—M. Gonzalez, R. Hammer, J. Henry.

9th.—C. J. Stockton, Jos. di Benedetto, Wm. Moss.

8th.—David Glover, Jno. Medina, John Maxwell.

7th.—Jas. Currie, Lee Grevenberg, Jas. Grevenberg.

6th.—Chas. Wenar, Joe Verges, J. T. Jacobs.

Beauty Shop Specials By Mrs. Nolan for December 11 to 16th.

According to an advertisement, appearing elsewhere in this issue of The Echo, Mrs. Nolan Beauty Shoppe announces quite a number of specials, at reduced prices for these days—from December 11 to the 16th. This is an opportunity to take advantage of the proposition as advertised.

OBSERVATIONS.

Balmy weather. Never saw the like. Paradise anew. * * * Poisett-like gorgeously blooming on every side. Bay St. Louis has never seen the like of such vibrant carmines.

* * * Bus travel along beach front missed from scenic boulevard. Makes for distressing vacancy. Loss to beach merchants estimated at $400.00 per month. * * * Paul Planchet is the prize grower of dahlias and chrysanthemums in so small a space as his front yard. Attraction of all lovers of flowers.

* * * Mrs. Kate Conner's chrysanthemums of bronze color were worthy of exhibition at flower show. * * * However, the Murray Bangs still hold record for dahlia growing. * * * Better plant seed for sweet peas next spring. * * * City getting deserved praise on efficiency and promptness of fire department. * * * Never saw so many water plugs about city since mayor and commissioners decided to paint 'em red and silver. Not hard to find nor difficult to see. * * *

Hunters and coal and wood dealers wait cold weather. Poor people like weather and says its good enough for them. * * * Fish biting well. Never saw so many "beauts" at this time of the year. Another born for we poor people. Helps tide over depression. * * * Christmas is here again and it's time to start another bank Christmas savings. The checks came in handy this week. Many will say, "I'll start one for next year!"

* * * Incidentally, not to spoil the holiday spirit, taxes are due again and payable right now—to Feb. 1. * * * Automobile tag tax due this month. Penalty for non-payment after December 31. The bus wagon is expensive, but it's worth it. * * * Filling stations agree. * * * N. R. A. is working. If you don't believe it compare prices. Going up all the time. Better buy now. Build now. * * * Prohibition is thing of the past. The noble experiment died. Means economy. Better and safer drinking at cheaper prices. No more bathtub gin and other unsanitary and questionable brews. End of poison. * * * The Bazaar, like the Burlesque Circus, was one great success. People still talking about the circus. Was the original suggestion of Mrs. R. L. Genin. * * * Chicken spaghetti supper is next form of benefit promised. Suggested by Mrs. (Mayor) G. Y. Blaise. If given will be for Xmas basket fund St. Margaret's Daughters. C. A. Gordon one of the best gentlemen workers in town.

* * * The Chambers of Commerce along the Mississippi Coast join with the Mississippi Seafood Commission to obtain a federal appropriation for the extension of the Mississippi oyster reefs was launched Monday by the Biloxi Chamber of Commerce. A conference was held by Secretary Ragusin of the C. of C. with President Blaise, Attorney Geo. Smith and other members of the Mississippi Seafood Commission in regard to supplementing the work started by Mr. Smith to secure aid for the state oyster reefs.

Senators Harrison and Stephens, Congressman Colmer and CWA Administrator, Harry Hopkins are being requested by the Biloxi Chamber of Commerce to approve the $100,000 expenditure for shell and seed oyster planting in Mississippi as originally announced by the Seafood Commission through Attorney Smith. The Chambers of Commerce at Pascagoula, Gulfport, Pass Christian, and Bay St. Louis have been requested by the Biloxi organization to back the seafood commission in this matter.

ROTARY TO GIVE XMAS PARTY 19TH.

Announce Banquet and Novel Party Program In Celebration of Holidays.

Members of Bay St. Louis Rotary Club are going in for a great holiday celebration—a pre-Christmas Social, to which Rotarians and other guests, ladies and gentlemen, will be present, to participate by individual membership invitation.

Prof. C. E. Craft in charge of December meetings program, is chairman of this special committee appointed by President John McDonnell for the occasion, with Dr. James A. Evans, Chas. G. Moreau, Joseph R. Scharff, associate workers. They will plan and put on the show. "Room 36" will be changed to "Room 6" since the feast and festival will be seened at The Answer.

While Tuesday evening, December 19, has been selected it is, in fact, tentative, as final approval of the time will be made at the regular meeting next week.

With the death of depression and the Eighteenth Amendment there will be occasion for better spirit—or, spirits. The committee will say, in sense, "on with the show!" "Let joy be unconfined."

Bay Rotary has taken a new lease—with a number of new members—hence, another reason for celebration. And with Christmas as the occasion. Oh boy!

There will be quite a social side to the Rotary holiday celebration—for members and their guests only. It will be reminiscent of splendor and pleasures of Bay St. Louis Rotary Club of other days. The good old days back again.

It is planned the committee will "get busy" at once and work out something new—something different. And report at meeting next Tuesday.

PASS CHRISTIAN YOUTH ACCIDENTALLY KILLED WHILE ON DUCK HUNT

Hubert Cox, Aged 19, Loses Life While in Boat on Wolf River With Companions

Hubert Cox, 19-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Cox of Pass Christian, was instantly killed Friday afternoon by the accidental discharge of a shotgun while on a duck hunting expedition with four companions.

The accident occurred at the mouth of Wolf river, about four miles north of Pass Christian. The five boys were in a skiff hunting ducks when the gun of one of his companions was discharged, the shot striking Cox in the back of the head, tearing away part of the skull. Those in the boat with Cox were Lee Cox, cousin of the slain boy; D. B. Cuevas, Frank Bell and Frank Comosky. The accident occurred about 3 o'clock. Medical examination of the body was said to reveal that death was instantaneous.

Funeral services were conducted Saturday afternoon from the home of his parents on Market street. Besides his parents, Cox is survived by three brothers and other relatives.

To Seek Combined Action For Federal Aid to Oyster Reefs

A campaign to have all Chambers of Commerce along the Mississippi Coast join with the Mississippi Seafood Commission to obtain a federal appropriation for the extension of the Mississippi oyster reefs was launched Monday by the Biloxi Chamber of Commerce. A conference was held by Secretary Ragusin of the C. of C. with President Blaise, Attorney Geo. Smith and other members of the Mississippi Seafood Commission in regard to supplementing the work started by Mr. Smith to secure aid for the state oyster reefs.

KEEP SCHOOLS OPEN.

MRS. ROOSEVELT pointed out a few days ago that we cannot have progressive education, or education of any kind, unless our school houses are kept open and our teachers paid.

The observation is very timely in view of the widespread demand for economy in school affairs which, in some states, has seriously crippled the educational process. It is estimated that approximately three million children of school age are not now in school. The social consequences of permitting these children to grow up in such neglect is appalling.

More astonishing is the statement of Dean Arps, of Ohio State University, who declares that the American people "cannot be generally aware of the extent to which paralysis has overtaken our system of public education." He says that many people here will find it difficult to believe that the children of Germany have seventy-four more days of instruction annually than do the children in this country and to a lesser degree the same is true of the children of France, Sweden, Denmark and England.

Don't forget to buy Christmas seals and help stamp out tuberculosis.

THE EVENING "STAR."

TOWARDS the southwest, after sunset, look for Venus, the brightest luminary in the heavens now, save only the moon and sun, a brilliant, intriguing point of brightness apparently hanging in the cold, dark recesses of space.

This planet, or "wanderer," is not a star. All stars are suns, like our own, but so vastly distant that the brightest of them all, Sirius, the Great Dog Star, sends only one-fifteenth as much light to the Earth as does Venus at its peak of brilliance, late in December. Venus, and the other planets, only reflect the light of the sun.

Astronomers speculate about Venus. Even with the aid of our modern telescopes the conditions on its surface are unknown. Clouds of dust or vapor screen the body from our prying instruments. Whether it revolves on its axis, like the Earth, or continually presents the same side to the sun's heat, nobody knows. This is important, for upon this answer depends the probability of life, as we know it.

Venus is about the same size as the Earth. Look at it—that's how our globe appears if there are intelligent beings speculating Earthward.

Hard work usually leads to success and laziness has its ultimate reward.

REMEMBER WHERE WE WERE.

ONE of the shrewd attacks being made on the Recovery program is the theory advanced that the depression was over in this country in the summer of 1932 and that the country would have risen to prosperity if nothing else had been done.

Since the idea has been advanced by some economists, the New York Times consults the record which shows that between August and November, 1932, the index of business activity climbed from 63.8 to 69.3. However, by the week ending March 18, 1933, it had receded to 60.0. Reports of department and chain store sales show a corresponding decrease.

It may be well to point out that the credit structure of the country collapsed and with it thousands of banks. As Sir George Paish, noted British economist, puts it: "The American nation was threatened with complete bankruptcy—governmental, corporate and individual."

There are occasional provocations for lynchings but law and order should be upheld.

STOP ARRIVING GANGSTERS.

THE indiscriminate sale of machine guns throughout most of the United States is something close to assisting criminal gangs to carry on their work of stealing and killing.

Recently, Mrs. George Kelly, wife of a notorious kidnaper and gangster, related how she purchased a machine gun. While we do not know it was probably used subsequently by some of the gang recently broken up by convictions following the Urschel kidnapping.

The sale of machine guns should be regulated. Even if sold to peace officers they should be closely checked and careful records kept as to where they are. They should not be allowed to turn up in the hands of gangsters through the semi-criminal carelessness of alleged peace officers.

Every time an expert gives his views on the money problem the public realizes that there is one less expert.

It is rumored that Mr. Ford will have a conference with the President. The subject matter of the talk is a secret, and much guessing is being done about it. Until the facts are known, perhaps it will be just as well for the average reader to assume that the Chief Executive merely is going to buy a new car, and in the meantime keep pegging away at the old job. One thing is certain, both of the parties mentioned have definite ideas about handling their own affairs and probably do not need outside advice, at this stage at least.

LYNCH LAW OUT WEST.

THE kidnaping and murder of Brooke Hart in California was a particularly vicious crime. The kidnapers seized the young man, carried him away, heartlessly knocked him in the head and threw his body into the waters—then negotiated with his relatives for money to return him safely. The crime quite naturally shocked and infuriated the people of California.

Finally two men were arrested, charged with the crime while waiting in prison a mob seized them and proceeded to lynch them without any ceremony or hesitation. Governor James Rolph, Jr., in a public statement approved the action of the mob and announced that he would pardon any member of the lawless group convicted for his part in the murder. The Governor's public attitude brought condemnation from many sources and approval from others.

The Governor of California, in giving his approval to mob law, overlooks several factors which make it necessary to discountenance such illegal mass action. In the first place, the mob may have killed innocent men; the courts and juries are constituted to prevent such injustice. In the second place, Governor Rolph, in praising the mob, is indirectly condemning the sheriff and his officers who tried to uphold the dignity of the law and who were severely injured in the performance of their duty. In the second place, the protection of society is in government and orderly procedure and the encouragement of mob law is a direct attack upon the safety and security of every citizen because there is no telling at what minute some aggrieved group may take it in mind to punish somebody that they dislike or suspect.

Sharply contrasted to the action of Governor Rolph has been that of Governor Ritchie of Maryland, who, when local officials refused to prosecute accused members of a mob which had killed a prisoner he sent state officials with troops to make the arrest. When another mob sought to free the citizens who were under arrest Governor Ritchie ordered the soldiers to uphold the authority of the law and retain the custody of the officers. This action coming so quickly after the California experience presented a sharp contrast with it.

CRITICISM WHEN NOBODY KNOWS.

MARLEN E. PEW, the editor of Editor and Publisher, a newspaper man's magazine, relates that President Roosevelt had asked some newspaper men, "where is your criticism?"

The president insisted that the government could make mistakes, that officials were certain to blunder and he wanted the newspaper men to know that criticism "is the best kind of backing and the only request we make is that you be prompt about it."

Since the resignation of Mr. Sprague and the opening of the barage laid down by the "gold dollar" group there is no lack of criticism per se. What is lacking, however, is constructive criticism that is able to say "you are wrong, but here is the right course."

Truth of the matter is that nobody knows, least of all the smart boys who run the big banks and handle other people's money. Another fact, that some of this class seem to be forgetting, is that the American people want no more of the leadership of 1929, when bonds and stocks of all kinds were foisted upon the people of this country while the bankers and other selling agents got their profits.

The nation, admittedly, was in a bad way when President Roosevelt assumed control of the government. At that time everybody realized that something had to be done and nobody knew what to do. The President acted then and he is continuing to act. Until he proves entirely wrong he will retain popular support, and the only wise thing for us all is to give him loyal cooperation as far as possible. He has the leadership in the battle to correct wrongs that we do not wish repeated and that position of command is not going to be transferred to any special group in this country, whether they be bankers, big business men, farmers, laborers, or whatever there is.

The people of this country must realize today, if they have not heretofore, that the welfare of all the people is superior to the welfare of any group, that any program which "takes care" of a small class at the expense of a larger class is wrong and that, in the long run, we will have to prosper together.

A FAIRY TALE "THAT PAID."

INDICTED for using the mails to defraud a gentleman has been convicted at Sioux City for pretending that he had secured evidence that an immense estate, left by the great English explorer, Sir Francis Drake, had never been properly distributed and that the rightful heirs had never been found in more than 400 years.

Not only was the gentleman able to invent this fanciful fiction, but he was able to convince a number of Americans by the name of Drake, and some related to Drakes of various families, that he was looking into the records in the English courts and that millions of dollars would be secured from the British government for distribution to those who helped defray his expenses.

Sums said to range from $1 to $5,000 were given to him by those who believed his yarn and expected to share the fortune when it was "rightfully" distributed. Despite the fact that the British government denied there was any merit to his pretensions and that the American ambassador to London warned the people not to be duped, something like $700,000 was poured into the lap of the gentleman who dished out the story of those who were anxious to believe it.

The story is strange enough, but worse follows. When the man was arrested and indicted the people from whom he had taken the money got together, hired lawyers and financed his defense.

The idea in publishing this editorial is not to laugh at the contributions made by the citizens who lost money or to stress their gullibility. Like them, all of us, at times, risk nibbles at one thing or another. However, the next time a citizen tells you a story about huge fortunes that he can uncover and distribute if you will pay part of the expense fund, go back to the box where you put this story and read it over. It will save you money.

MERELY THEORETICAL

By GEORGE E. SCHILLING
(For The Sea Coast Echo)

BANKRUPT.

THE debts of and in the United States are said to total about $240,000,000,000. We are getting accustomed to big figures, but this total is so tremendous that it has no meaning, for nobody understands it, so most of us simply ignore it and worry about the electric light bill of $2.28 instead. Possibly the larger figure may have a little more meaning if we reduce it to averages. It amounts to about two thousand dollars for every man, woman and child in the country. If there are fifty million workers in the United States the debt is nearly five thousand dollars for each of them, employed, or unemployed. With an average of four or five persons to a family, it is eight to ten thousand dollars for every household in the country, including Bay St. Louis and Waveland. You may think that you are free personally, but you will have to help pay those debts just the same. They are among the most important causes of the depression, and you are undoubtedly helping pay for that.

This enormous mass is one of the two basic reasons for our present difficulties, and those of the men at Washington who are trying to solve our problems. It is debt that is back of the agitation about money, inflation, "reflation" and the extraordinary gold policy of the government.

There is little doubt that the United States is bankrupt today. We cannot pay our debts. They probably amount to more than the cash value of everything in the country at present prices. We still have the property, but, instead of being mortgaged for two-thirds of its value, or something like that, its price has dropped until it will sell for less than the face of the mortgage, assuming that it could be sold at all.

Today's arguments that if we cut the amount of the debts to 240 billion half dollars, instead of that many dollars, we ought to be able to pay off. However, as a famous American poet once remarked, "Things are not always what they seem." There is a very important catch in that argument, at which we can only hint in a single column.

What are these debts? One answer given is that all property is, on the reverse side, debt. In Hancock county this is, apparently, not exact. The owner of a home, a farm, or other property may have it free from mortgage. In that case he owes only his share of the public debt, payments on which are included in his taxes. In New York city the answer is probably almost exact, for there is probably very little property there which neither owes debt, nor is a debt of somebody else. A bond is simply an evidence of debt. An insurance policy is a debt of the insurance company, a bank deposit is a debt of the bank, and is balanced mainly by debts owed to the bank. The very money you have in your pocket is merely an evidence of debt, for the government promises to pay the note, or to redeem the silver.

Large scale business is crisscrossed with debts of all kinds—bonds for fixed capital, bank loans, short term debts for current supplies and bills receivable for sales and advances. There is one item in the long list which you will probably not see mentioned except in this column, yet it is the most important of all both socially and economically. That item is payrolls. To reduce debts is to reduce payrolls, which are debts due by employers to employees. To reduce payrolls is to begin a whole chain of difficulties.

Of the 240 billions of debt it is estimated that a little more than 100 billions are short term. Your household bills, and those of your neighbors are a very small part of this total. A very large proportion of the whole is in connection with the banks—deposits, loans and discounts. Nobody is worrying about short term debts, however, except because they are so large enough.

Much of the noise about inflation to scale down debts is coming from the farmer. The peculiar fact about this is that his long term debts are probably less than ten billions, or seven per cent, of the total, and his short term debts are even less in amount and proportion. Governments owe over thirty billions; railroads, insurance companies, city real estate owners, and probably industrial companies each owe more than the farmers. Note that the debtor is necessarily a property holder.

There is a very popular expression about "the poor debtor and the rich creditor," but this has a catch in it. The really poor man cannot get credit, and therefore is not a debtor. Nobody will lend him any important sum. On the contrary the rich man, the multimillionaire, has credit and, in fact, uses it. This is tremendously important, but you will probably never hear of it until the Federation of Labor thinks it time to speak up. That organization, among a lot of other things, knows that payrolls are its members are debts. It is already on record, but is not conducting a publicity campaign.

The point that this column is trying to make is the reversal of the old expression. If the property owner is the debtor, and the wageearner, widows, savings bank depositors and their neighbors are creditors, then we should speak of "rich debtor and poor creditors." The phrase is more nearly true than the other.

Sapling Sayings

(Activities of C. C. C. Camp, Miss. P-52)
By A. SAP.

Nov. 28, 1933.

GREETINGS to the readers of The Sea Coast Echo. This column will appear each week and will try to convey to the readers any and all interesting news of camp activities of C. C. C. Camp, Miss., P-52. Any help that may be contributed in the line of news will be greatly appreciated and should be addressed to the above heading in care of C. C. C., Kiln, Miss.

"FIRE CALL." Day and night you can hear it. Starting last Friday at noon and still sounding in spite of the entire two hundred men stationed here.

Last Friday half the boys in camp were planning on a week end with the home folks. Several school busses had been chartered by the boys for that purpose. But "Fire Call" met them at the gate. As each truck came in from the woods loaded with boys who had visions of "a supper at home" uppermost in their minds, they were met at the gate by First Sergeant Schneider with orders to "Fill your canteens and get back on the trucks in a hurry. You're going to a fire" the calls had kept the phone busy calling for fire fighters. And if you think these camp boys can't fight fire come go with them.

Last Friday, Saturday and Sunday every boy in camp was kept on the move. Honors meant nothing. Meal time was whenever the fire was put out. Dinner was served as late as three thirty and supper as late as one A. M.

One fire in Devils Swamp was estimated to be from seven to nine miles in length, one crew of sixty men was recalled from the woods early Friday afternoon and were on their way to the fire in Devils Swamp when another call came through with "send more men." "There are sixty men on trucks headed that way," was the Sergeant's reply. "That is not enough came the answer." So on through all hours of the day and night.

One cook was heard to say, "I don't mind serving and cooking such hours if I could just tell when dinner is over and supper begins." Or as another said, "How can I serve supper to fifty men when I still have a hundred to serve dinner?" Oh, well it's all in a day with us. If you see a woods fire call the camp and we'll be there as fast as trucks can bring us.

On Saturday one crew under Forester Tom Mallini was gone from camp on "Fire Duty" from nine A. M. until six P. M.

Several of the boys were so positive they would spend the week end at home that—well at least one had to call a certain young lady over long distance in Laurel to break a date. Page "Skinny."

"Pistol Ridge" Moody better known as the camp gigolo was at his height this week end at The Burlesque Circus, showing the ladies around.

Robert Wells, better known as "Sleeping Beauty," Wells sleeps so late these mornings that he never gets any breakfast.

All the barracks have been completed and every man is now housed for the winter. There has also been completed a recreation hall along with Foresters and Officers quarters.

Merchants Bank & Trust Co.

Bay St. Louis, Miss.

Why not come out and see for yourself? Visitors are always welcome and the boys are willing guides especially so if there is a young lady in the crowd.

Our next dance will be given on December 15th and all the boys are eagerly looking forward to that date.

Mrs. F. F. Farrelly and small daughter of New Orleans spent the week end with us.

Three weeks ago thirty-eight new men arrived in camp to bring our enrollment back to the full strength of two hundred men. Only thirty-eight men had withdrawn to attend school or to take new jobs. So it can readily be seen that most of the boys are well satisfied.

December 5th, 1933. We were glad to welcome in our midst last Tuesday week, Captain Francis W. Powers, 1724 Park View avenue, New York City, as our new Commanding Officer who is also Commanding Officer of Co. "C" 305 Inf., 77th Division of the Organized Reserves of Brooklyn, New York.

Captain Powers is not new to the South having seen service in the following camps: Camp Upton, N. Y.; Camp Lee, Va.; Camp Gordon, Ga.; and Camp MacArthur, Texas. During his short time in camp he has proven himself to be very popular with the boys and is highly respected by all those connected with the camp. Once again we bid him welcome.

We are glad to say that Lieut. Tucker will remain with us as Finance Officer. No man in camp is better liked than Lt. Tucker who is known by all the boys as a "square shooter." No greater compliment can be said of Commanding Officer, for the boys know when called "on the carpet" before him, it is business and a square deal for all parties concerned.

Remark heard by the correspondent: "Say, Bozo, who is the new Major I saw strutting by just then?" "Aw, that ain't no Major that's just Lt. Gay, the camp medico, in his new dress uniform."

Another remark overheard: "Wonder when Hammond Hinton is going to move his trunk down to Andrew Lott's?"

Depend on our First Sgt. Harold J. Schneider to back up the camp boys. Didn't he stand behind "Rathole" Ratcliff at the football game Thanksgiving night in Hattiesburg while Rathole was getting boxed on the ear? Wonder if he knows who hit him?

Lieut. B. F. Farrelly spent a pleasant week end with home folks in New Orleans last week.

"Mr. Kimball, District Forester from Wiggins spent two days with us this week."

The boys are practicing regularly for basketball under Coach "Fats" McClellan. He states his prospects for a good team are "Fair."

Quite a few of the camp boys attended a play given at the Kiln Vocational High School for the benefit of the poor children's Christmas Fund. In fact over five truck loads of boys helped swell the gate.

Fire Sale! Bargain! See Max Gandy for all second hand jewelry and watches that have no sale value in Hattiesburg. Also noticed "Jughead" Bradley with a rule in his hand last week measuring feet for his shoe sale—he is holding daily.

Charles "Gut" Story pulled a fast one on the cook force last week. The cooks and K. Ps. were determined to "fill him up" for once, so after the other boys had eaten their fill and he had eaten enough for any two men he was called back and seated once more. Eight K. Ps. and two cooks set before him, all chicken bones and scraps taken from the entire eighteen tables that had just satisfied two hundred men. And marvel of marvels he sat right there and ate everything set before him. After he had finished the meal he turned in his plate nineteen chicken bones, a little juice to show where a half-gallon of peaches once were, and the remains of several other like items. The cooks said never again. Yes he was there for four thirty supper and said he enjoyed both meals.

Competition must be getting hot for Bill Reddock in Kiln. See he has gone home and worked Beard Bro's. for new togery to the extent of one suit, one hat and one double-breasted top coat with semi-belton bones. Stay with 'em Bill. Clothes make the man.

Services are conducted here each Sunday afternoon for the camp boys. Last Sunday the service was under the leadership of Rev. J. E. Gray of Bay St. Louis.

This day came on for hearing and consideration by the Board of Supervisors of Hancock county, Mississippi, petition of Oswald Nease for a change and reduction in the assessment of real property assessed to the said petitioner as the owner thereof, at the page and line on said 1932-33 real roll as shown in said petition, said change and reduction being asked on the ground that the assessment of acres actually in the property described.

And it appearing to the Board of Supervisors from the evidence, both oral and documentary, offered in support of said application that the circumstances alleged in said petition as grounds for relief, are true and that the assessment should be reduced from $160.00 to $85.00 and that the acreage be changed from 42 acres to 5 acres.

And the Board being fully satisfied that petitioner is entitled to have said assessment reduced and changed, as herein provided and that the board should so order:

It is therefore ordered by the Board of Supervisors of Hancock County, Mississippi, that the assessment is hereby reduced from $160 to $85 and that the acreage be reduced from 42 acres to 5 acres being a total reduction of $75.00 for the year 1933.

It is further ordered that the Clerk of this Board certify two copies of this order to the State Tax Commission for its approval or disapproval; and if the foregoing order be approved by the State Tax Commission, the Clerk of this Board is hereby authorized and directed to change the Original Assessment Roll in his office, and the Sheriff and Tax Collector of this County is hereby authorized and directed to change the Copy in his possession to conform with the provisions of this order. And the Sheriff and Tax Collector shall be properly credited with the reduction (if any) herein made.

Whereas petitions have been filed showing that certain lands have been transferred and the present owners desire said property to be assessed to them,

It is therefore ordered that the land herein described be assessed to the parties appearing herein as the owners, for the taxes of 1933, to-wit:

Part of Lot 3, Section 32, Township 7, South of Range 16 West, in Hancock County, Mississippi, containing 2.88 acres more or less, to Jerome J. Carver.

Relieves Women's Pains
Here is an example of how Cardui has helped thousands of women: "I was very thin and pale," writes Mrs. P. H. Scott, of Roanoke, Va. "I suffered from weakness and a severe pain in my back. This pain unnered me, and I did not feel like doing my work. I did not care to go places, and felt worn, tired, day after day."
"My mother had taken Cardui, and so I decided to try it. I have never regretted doing so. I took three bottles and it built me up. I gained in weight, my color was better and the pain left my back. I feel stronger than I have been in some time."

TWO MILLION DOLLAR DAMAGE FROM FOREST FIRES IN WIDE AREA

Long Continued Drought Provides Ideal Setting, and Damage Extends to Destruction of Timber and Pastures.

Forest fires, feeding upon vegetation dried by the long continued drought and unchecked by rainfall customary at this season of the year, have already damaged pastures and mature and growing timber over an expansive state area to the extent of more than two million dollars, estimates J. C. Holton, Commissioner of Agriculture.

In counties throughout the State, commented the Commissioners, the small, smoke-filled atmosphere, testify that forest fires are raging to an extent unprecedented in recent years. The resultant damage is not instantly apparent, for our woods fires are not the blazing furnaces of certain other areas, wherein homes and even large towns are threatened. In a less spectacular manner, however, the damage is severe. Stands of young timber are killed and mature trees scarred. The earth is robbed of fertility, and barren hillsides become quick prey to winter rains. Pastures expected to sustain livestock far into the winter are destroyed, and the farm feed bill is increased at a time when money is scarce.

"Mississippi has few of these assets to spare. More than twenty million acres in the state are not in cultivation, and except through an extension of cultivated areas not warranted or through use as pasture or timber production, must remain 'idle acres.' A burden such as that cannot be carried by the seven million or so acres that are cultivated, hence the problem of reforestation is a vital one.

"Under ordinary circumstances, active reforestation in Mississippi is little more than fire prevention, a task not often of serious proportions or of considerable expense. The prevention of soil erosion and gullying, necessary in some areas, is always good farming and essential to the preservation for future generations of the assets of which we are temporary custodians.

"First of all, however, fire prevention must permit remaining seed trees to blanket the hillsides with young pines, and still more fire protection must permit the young pines to thrive. A million acres are receiving protection through cooperation with the Mississippi Forest Service, and some twenty counties are asking that CWA funds be used for an identical purpose. This year's experience is compelling argument for immediate and positive action."

Claudette Colbert Superb As 'Torch Singer,' Dramatic Tale of Night Club Queen

Excellent acted, superbly produced and told through the medium of a powerful story that never lacks suspense and dramatic fervor, Paramount's picture "Torch Singer," featuring Claudette Colbert and Ricardo Cortez will be at the A. & G. Theater, Sunday and Monday of this week.

Adapted from "Mike," Grace Perkins' Liberty Magazine story, the picture presents Miss Colbert in a dual personality role—first as an unmarried, deserted mother who finds the social barriers too difficult to overcome, and later as the brazen, hard-hearted torch singer of the cabarets, who still longs for the baby she has been forced to give up.

A splendid supporting cast assists Miss Colbert immeasurably to make the picture the gripping emotional drama it is. Ricardo Cortez is excellent as Tony Cummings, the radio impresario, who falls in love with the torch singer only to see, aside gracefully when he finds that her eventual happiness depends upon another man.

David Manners is cast in the role of the man who "did her wrong" but, nevertheless, in his repentance, he wins the audience sympathy. Comedy relief comes from the ever-popular LeRoy who created such a nationwide sensation in his initial screen appearance with Maurice Chevalier in "A Bedtime Story."

But, all in all, it is Miss Colbert's picture and we feel that we can never see enough of her, are glad of that. Tender, wistful, appealing in the early part of the picture, the character she plays undergoes a complete change. The transition is most deftly accomplished and for that alone, the lovely Claudette wins the laurels.

Governor's Budget Report Nearly Ready

Governor Sennett Conner announces he is preparing budget recommendations for 1934-35, which will be submitted to the legislators within a few days for study preparatory to convening of the regular session in January.

The Budget Commission, some weeks ago, held hearings at which department and institution heads presented estimates of needs, and from these estimates the commission's legislative recommendations will be shaped.

WHO'S AFRAID Of the Big Bad John Barleycorn.

John Barleycorn is back again. That's what the papers say. But most folks say they never knew that he had been away.

While we had failed to see his face in it's familiar frame, His finger prints were everywhere His victims quite the same.

When first we thrust him from our door We breathed a happy sigh, And felt supremely sure that the Millennium was nigh.

The Mothers prayed, the children played, The Fathers broke their jugs, And things worthwhile replaced our stock.

Of glasses, steins and mugs. Before that time John Barleycorn Enticed with blatant noise, After, he gum shoe'd here and there And snared our girls and boys.

Before, he feared somewhat the law, And paid, in part, his way After, too many in control Were plainly in his pay.

As time went on it soon was found The drought was incomplete Bar rooms that used to have a home Now lurked on every street.

Case Beauty Shoppe Re-Opens in New Place On Bay Beach Front

Mrs. Roberta Case, beauty specialist and operator of the Case Beauty Shoppe, Bay St. Louis, has returned, after an absence of several weeks to friends in Texas and her children in California, and announces the reopening of the Case Beauty Shoppe,
in the building head of State street,
opposite A. & G. Theater and Echo Bldg., with modern and complete equipment.

During her absence Mrs. Case took a post-graduate course in her work and added specialties and is better prepared to serve her clientele than ever.

Her shop is large, with plenty of light and air and patrons will find it not only easily accessible but a place where ladies will like to meet in social contact while seeking professional services.

Mrs. Case invites the public to visit her place. She will be glad to see one and all and expresses her delight at being back in "dear old Bay St.
Louis," as she expresses it.

—Mr. and Mrs. Leo W. Seal spent Saturday in New Orleans where they witnessed the L. S. U. Tulane annual football game, and that evening attended a social function at the home of friends, returning home next morning.

—Mrs. (Dr.) J. C. Buckley spent several days in New Orleans visiting at the home of her mother, Mrs. Crisler, in Gentilly Terrace. Mrs. Crisler was a welcome visitor here last week for several days. Friends were glad to see her again.

—A pleasant party was the three-table bridge and supper given Sunday evening by Miss L. C. Del Bondio and Miss Marie E. Bertrand at Blue Heaven home on Pass Christian beach in which a number of Bay St. Louis guests participated. The decorations were fall flowers in profusion.

—Miss Genevieve Monti, valued attache of Levine's Economy Store, has resumed her post of duty after an illness caused from blood poisoning. Patrons of the store and her many friends will be glad to learn of her recovery and that she is back at the store again greeting and serving the public.

OF SOCIAL INTEREST (By Our Society Editor)

MRS. E. J. LACOSTE'S LOVELY AFTERNOON BRIDGE PARTY.

Mrs. E. J. Lacoste, one of the hospitable and popular hostesses of Bay-Waveland social circles, gave a beautiful bridge party at the Lacoste home on South Beach Boulevard Tuesday afternoon, with three tables of players, complimenting members of the Tuesday Afternoon Bridge Club and a number of invited guests.

The beautiful home was decorated with a profusion of yupon and holly, in anticipation of the Christmas season, fittingly and effectively, displaying as well thought and taste. The guests whiled away the afternoon hours all too quickly in the intriguing charm of contract until that time when delicious refreshment were served.

High scorers were Mrs. G. E. Fer-chaud 1st; Miss Margaret Green, second, and Mrs. H. C. Glover captured the cut favor which was a fruit cake, the making and baking of which Mrs. Lacoste is well known for her success.

The party was the event of the week and served as a pleasant afternoon to the friends who had gathered with the hostess to share in her pleasure of making others happy.

MRS. JOSEPH R. SCHARFF ENTERTAINS SEWING CLUB AT SOCIAL.

The Sewing Circle had its regular meeting Monday with Mrs. J. R.
Scharff at her home on Carroll avenue. An unusually hilarious time was spent in the social hour. We were so glad to have two new faces among our group—Mrs. C. E. Craft, and Mrs. Norton Haas. Mrs. Scharff served a most delicious salad and all were anxiously waiting for next Monday's meeting with Mrs. W. W.
Vaughn, Main street. Those present were:

Mrs. W. S. Speer, Mrs. J. S. Shaw,
Mrs. J. R. Scharff, Mrs. Laurent
Dickson, Mrs. Eugene Davis, Mrs.
Norton Haas, Mrs. C. E. Craft, Mrs.
David Middleton, Mrs. W. W.
Vaughn, Mrs. J. Barker, Mrs. (Dr.)
Ward, Miss Laverne Caperton.

—Dr. and Mrs. Jas. A. Evans, Miss Vivian Alice Evans and Master James A. Evans spent the Thanksgiving hol- idays with Rev. and Mrs. C. C. Clark at their home in Waynesboro, Miss. It was a happy reunion of friends and the trip to and fro was unusually delightful, with the weather an out- standing factor.

—Real estate continues active,
with a sale or more recorded each week. On Tuesday Mr. and Mrs.
Cassac sold the building housing their photographic studio to Joseph Rhodes, seafood merchant, who will take possession at once and his business adjoining therein.

TIMELY DOINGS OF FEMININE INTEREST HERE AND THERE.

THE craze of working patchwork designs for quilts revives an old custom. Our grandmothers and their mothers were deeply engrossed.
In fact, it was a part of their domestic duties. Bay St. Louis women today are busier than ever fashioning the various quilt patterns. The "wedding ring" and the "Garden design" and others are popular but none as the Dutch Girl. Dear lady reader, or Mr. and Mrs. Doe, you might get one for Christmas. The workers are tireless and ceaseless in getting them finished for the holiday because it's going to be a Chris-mas gift.

But as busy as these dear feminine creatures are with their quilt making their contract bridge lessons and playing suffers not. Bridge—the contract kind, holds its own. Nothing interferes with the dear bridge game. It is the most popular form of diversion. Auction is becoming obscure. But, remember, a few people still play "500." So there you are.

Milady finds much aside from her domestic duties and social obligations to keep her mind and time engaged. The beauty parlors are calling. This is no more fad. It has become a necessity. Because it spells for sanitation and health. The care of the hair, skin and finger nails are essential as the teeth, the eyes and the internal body.

Milady finds a day's time pretty well filled. Here's the average program: Rising, depending on how late one retired the night previously. Then to the car and downtown for the day's shopping. There is so much to hear down town. Gossip? No! News—light, fanciful, trivial. But it's all about people one knows and thus the interest. Then lunch. Contract bridge. An exception might mean a trip to Gulfport, possibly to matinee. Depends on the matinee idols, even though they are in the celluloid. Or some glamorous, glorious woman who is the popular craze of the fleeting moments. For, glory, after all, as the poet has said, leads to the grave! Such is the reward of fame in the ultimate.

There is never an afternoon in Bay St. Louis without a card party.
It might not be a big get-together.
But a foursome, at least. Two-table assemblies are not uncommon. Then quite a number of ladies must rush to the first Coast train. For hubby is coming home, either on the first or second. Then dinner. And again, cards or possibly the movies. A regular vortex of social and general activity. And, God bless these good women, aside from their precious moments they find time to assist every worthy cause and Bay St.
Louis has many. Red Cross, King's
